Overview

The Undergraduate College of Arts, Culture and Humanities \(ACH\) seeks to unite first-year students who share a common interest in creative expression and exploration through the use of various media.

Because the ACH experience is not strictly academic, involvement in the College is based on interest in these activities rather than on choice of major or career goal.

Theme-specific programming offered through ACH allows students to think critically about the ways in which art and culture are present in our everyday lives and how it enriches us--often times without our full awareness.

The goal of ACH is to provide a tightly knitted community in which first-year students are given the opportunity to further develop and study various forms of creative expression and how they are used to illustrate the differences and similarities among cultures.
